and the world stands in silent astonishment wondering where it will all end. Mirantur taciti-et dubia pro fulmine pendent.

Our formor prodictions as to the prol able course of events in Egypt have proved substantially correct. The Turkish soldiers, there can be little doubt, were refused permission to land in Egypt, and the British quietly waited for reinforcements before proceeding into the interi in pursuit of Arabi and the rebel-arm Latest telegrams tell us that the reinforcements have at last landed, and that the at tack-on-Arabi was to commence yesterday, the troops advancing in two divisions, while the fleet bombarded the forts of Aboukir The result of these combined may ements car hardly be doubted. We should imagine that the British forces will outnumber the Egyptian army, and although Arab has doubtless strengthened his position by every possible means, it is difficult to believe that he can withstand the powerful artillery which will be brought to bear upon the entrenchments, and the admirably equipped and skilfully handled degions of Sir GARNET, WOLSELEY. According to telegram from Alexandria; dated the 20th ulto., Arabi had erected fortifications just, confine our thoughts to the present emeropposite Aboukir, Bay, and upon the Ma-// [431] mudych fresh; water canals He had also placed a dam in the canal below his position, close to the fortifications, and cut the canal banks above the dam, so as to send the water all along in front of his position. Yet even such à measure might not bé a complete solution of the difficulty. Supposing that we gain the victory in the contest and make-the King prisoner, what terms shall we demand as the price of peace? Subsequent to our conquest, what will be the universal popular feeling in Corea towards us? How will the conditions of the intercourse between "the two countries be changed? Will China remain neutral during the struggle? If she should-render assistance to Corea, trouble must arise anew between Japan and her. Shall we then go to war with the Middle Kingdom, -also !-- What-advantage will Russia-takeof the opportunity offered her in the strife? What measures shall we adopt with regard to that power? Until we have carefully considered all these questions, we can gency only, regardless of future consequences, and equip an expedition in the belief that when brought face to face with a number of our men-of-war and some thousands of our powerful troops, the Coreans will promptly lay down their arms and surrender, and that thus we shall be able to gain our object by humiliating them, without even fleshing our swords, then our cause is as hopeless as that of "those who expect to conquer fortune by

WE extract the following paragraph from the British Mail for July :- It is stated by Nature that the telegraph is making rapid way in China. The Shanghai-Tienisin line has been working now for a few months, and a line is being constructed in the south between Canton and Hongkong-a distance of about 100 miles. The first section is to connect Canton, which is practically the commercial capital of China, with the frontier Victoria. After some consideration it has been decided that a land-line is perferable to a subinarine cable, as it will be more economical, and enormous junk traffic and fishing operations in the estuary of the Canton river. It is interesting to remark that this line is purely a private undertaking of a company of Chinese merchants i by the British authorities to the further construction of the line, and especially to the cable across the harbour necessary to connect Kowloon with the insured has declared his intention not to lown way. ONLY the other day, says a contemporary, M. Ferdinand de Lesseps was telling Europe that upon the first speaking of the British guns at Alexandria the Sucz Canal would be closed. So it is, perhaps. The prophesy has been partially fulfilled so far, but in a very different way to what the great-island-maker meant. A British Admiral prudently forbade British vessels entering the channel until the navigation was safe. Hereupon, De Lesseps the lesser, i.e. M. Victor -a gentleman about whose existence the world was somewhat forgetful-shall we say, incognisant?-dons the purple, and-imperially-holds-England answerable for all losses the company may sustain. As canal-cutters the De Lesseps may be very good; as commercial administrators. they may be excellent; as company promoters they may be superlative, but as statesmen and international lawyers we fear they cut very poor figures.—If M. Incidentally it may be worth noting that not one of Made Lesseps' great projects are original; all alike, without exception, having been proposed by earlier engineers,

THE Vienna journals contain details of the suicide of two young Frenchwomen under romantic circumstances. One was Mille. Marie Damain, a niece of Milles. Damain performed in small pieces at different private houses the two winters she spent in Vienna, and amongst others at the French Embassy. One of her many admirers was a young Count, an officer in the almy, between whom and Mdlle. Damain relations of intimacy were contracted. Marriage was contemplated by the unfortunate girl, and the young Count meant honourably by her, but was not of age, and his family were strongly opposed to the match. Wilson, Nicholls & Co.'s slaughter house, entered four houses occupied by Europeans, and stole sundry articles of wearing apparel, &c. the night before last. ALEXANDRIA, July 17th. Although on Saturday night there was no alarm of an attack by Arabi's army, there was something like a panic. Some German sailors, who were protecting the German hospital, in which are many sick under the care of the German Sisterhood, hurried through the town on a false alarm that the enemy was approaching. When challenged by our pickets they foolishly crouched down and gave no hoswer. Our men thinking they were marauders, fired, and the Germans believing the same of us, replied. For a time the scene was one of wild confusion. The Germans ran through the town. Our afarm signals were sounded all along the line. Everybody turned out thinking that the city was attacked. The

The latest news yesterday afternoon from Alexandria was that Arabi Pasha, has 6,000 infantry, 36 guns, 400 cavalry, one rocket gun, and one Gatting battery. He also has a large body of irregulars. Order is very loosely kept, and he was obliged yesterday to shoot twenty Bedouins for robbing his soldiers of the plunder they had taken at Alexandria.

A Constantinople dispatch states that Count Corti is strongly opposed to the Anglo-French control system in Egypt. The representative of the Czar is by no means kindly disposed toward the law of Egyptian liquidation which was established under the auspices of Sir Rivers Wilson, and to which Russia and the United States were the last who somewhat reluctantly gave their consent to its enactment. Baron Hirscafeldt, the German representative, is known to favor unrestricted military intervention by Turkey. This is again quite an opposite idea to that of Marquis de Noalles, and is against the grain of the traditional policy of France.

PARIS, July 17th. The Cabinet Council has resolved to accept invitation to protect the Sucz Canal jointly with England.

MARSEILLES, July 17th. Six French transports have been ordered to get ready to embark troops.

ALEXANDRIA, July 17th. Refugees continue to be found in large numbers, dead and buried. Yesterday many houses were blown up by English and Americans in order to stop the fire. Last night, about midnight, we heard a great noise on shore, and found the troops getting ready to resist an expected attack. The English sailors and marines were forming on the square by the flickering light of the burning houses. The English sent word to the representatives of the other nationalities, but all refused help except the Americans. The Russians, Greeks and Germans went aboard their vessels, but the Americans formed in line and said they would stop with the English. Then all went out, 100 strong, and proceeded in one direction towards the supposed enemy, and saw the English in Fort Napoleon throwing uprockets as a signal to the fleet. It was said that the Invitacible was clearing for action. On going forward, it was found that the Arabs had fired at some sailors, and that a laise alarm had oc-

During the massacre the soldiers set fire to the house of a timber merchant. His maid servant escaped to the garden where she remained surrounded by the fire, the Egyptian soldiers laughing at her agony and firing at her, but purposely avoiding inflicting a fatal injury preferring to see her burn to death. Finally, she rushed through the flames, and though wounded by bayonet thrusts, she succeeded in securing refuge in the ruins where she was discovered to-day by the marines, and handed over to the Americans. Arabi says he did not intend to make war, but as the Powers are determined to force an attack, he considers it better to fight at once. He expresses willingness to come to Alexandria, if the Khedive will induce the English fleet and troops to withdraw. The peace-at-any- in Toklo, and the unfortunate attack on price politicians appeared quite in the the Japanese Legation at Soul by a Corean ascendant, and it was hoped, apparently mob on the 23rd ulto., which ended in the with good reason, that the whole attention | death of several natives of Japan, and in the of Parliament would be directed to settling Minister, Mr. HANABUSA, and his attendants the Khedive of Egypt and his unrules letery suddenly developed itself, into an international question of the highest importance. The unscrupulous audacity of one man, ; which that enterprise was carried out, have | current in favor of warlike measures could Journals may laugh and jeer at Britain's an expedition. At the same time, It should when all hopes of peaceful negotiations the results of letting loose the dogs of war power of the Coreans is well known to us, in the land of the Mamelukes have opened | and so, however numerously we might be the eyes of the world to the fact that Britain opposed by the turbulent, it would be a and the world stands in silent astonishment wondering where it will all end. Miranti taciti et dubio pro fulmine pendent.

Our former predictions as to the probable course of events, in Egypt have proved substantially correct. The Turkish soldlers, there can be little doubt, were refused permission to land in Egypt, and the British quietly waited for reinforcements-before-proceeding-into-the-interior in pursuit-of-Arabi and the rebel army. Latest telegrams tell us that the reinforcements have at last landed, and that the attack on Arabi was to commence yesterday, the troops advancing in two divisions, while the fleet bombarded the forts of Aboukir. The result of these combined movements can hardly be doubted. We should imagine that the British forces will outnumber the Egyptian army, and although Arabi -has-doubtless-strengthened-his-position-byevery possible means, it is difficult to believe that he can -withstand the powerful artillery which will be brought to bear upon the entrenchments, and the admirably equipped and skilfully handled legions of Sir GARNET WOLSELEY. According to telegram from Alexandria, dated-the, 20th ulto., Arabi had erected fortifications just opposite Aboukir Bay and upon the Mamudych fresh water canal. He had also placed a dam in the canal below his position, close to the fortifications, and cut the ganal banks above the dam, so as to send the water all along in front of his position. It may also be considered certain that, during the past month, the Egyptian leader has used all other available means of strengthening his position by entrenchments, as it appears not improbable that The may have decided to chance everything on the result of this battle. Looking at the position of Arabi's encampment on the map, it appears as if the British would expertence little difficulty in cutting off his. communications with the interior, and an armed expedition into Corea. And completely homming him in between Alexandria on the one side, and Rosetta on the other. Aboukir is situated on the famous bay of that name, directly between these two towns, and unless it turns out that Arabi abandoned his original position and withdrew towards Cairb before the arrival of the British troops, we shall not be surprised to hear before these lines are in print, that the insurrection, so far as the audacious would-be Dictator is concerned, tras ended with the conflict at Aboukir. But it is only after the 'extermination of Arabi and his ferocious hordes that the real difficulties of the position will become apparent. And at present we are not disposed to venture Nor for many years past has the political into the uncertain, field of prophecy on the Irish difficulties. And then what at first having eventually to cut. a way through appeared a mere local difference between their smants before they could escape, will be accepted joyfully in influential quarters as a most convenient casus belli

Our latest advices from Yokohama show that the Mikado's Government was fully Arabi Pasha; has brought Europe to the alive to the gravity of the situation, every verge of a general war, a terrible contin- possible preparation being on foot to place gency which can only be avoided by the the country in a position to assert its rights attitude-which Great-Britain may assume in Corea against all opposition. The when the Egyptian Question is ripe for question of peace or war has been dispasfinal settlement. The first hostile step sionately discussed by the native press, but, taken by England in the bombardment of notwithstanding the generally, moderate Alexandria, and the successful manner in tone of the leading journals, a strong underclearly shown that the supremacy of the not be disguised. The Fiji Shimpo of the great naval power which has ruled the 31st ult. says:-"Our Government had sea for centuries, is more than a tradition, better order the navy and army authorities of the past, and that, although continental to propare men-of-warking land forces for military system and feeble army, the only, appoint a special envoy, vested with nation that ever stayed the lightning full power to arrange peace or declare power of the all-conquering Napoleon, war; and when Mr. HANABESA, Minister to Is as much to be feared now in the Korea, has returned to Tokiyo, such field of battle as when the veterans special envoy should accompany him to of the Old Guard were broken and scattered | Soul, in advance of the fleet and troops by the invincible infantry of Wellington, or | prepared." Another, native paper says, when the flower of Russia's chivalry on the referring to the above, "We admit that bloody field of Inkermann melted like snow | such proceeding would be resolute and perin summer before the terrible charge of emptory; but we cannot help saying that, Sir Colin Camputal's "long red line" of as far as the event in question is concerned, kilted warriors. The general impression our contemporary, contrary to his usual in Europe prior to the bombardment of thoughtfulness, displays alarm. Under the Alexandria, would appear to have been extraordinary circumstances of the case that Britain was merely threatening, with- we must not recklessly determine upon out the slightest intention of carrying out neade or war. We should exhaus. her threats. Until we have carefully considered all these questions, we can neither devise any perfect plan nor foresee the end of the hostility. Should we foridly confine our thoughts to the present emergency only, regardless of future consequences, and equip an expedition in the belief, that when brought face to face with a number of our men-of-war and some thousands of our powerful troops, the Coreans will, promptly lay down their arms and surrender, and that thus we shall be able to gain our object by humiliating them, without even fleshing our swords; then our cause is as hopeless as that of those who expect to conquer fortune by the boasting of their soldiery. An estimate of the large profits derived from the Tsz Fa lottery swindle may be formed from the fact, that a tailor who was fined $100 or three months' hard labor by Mr. Wodehouse at the Police Court this morning for selling the ticket to a great crowd in the public street on the 6th instant, paid the fine, or had it paid for him by the lottery people. In our issue of Saturday we recommended the adoption of severe measures to suppress this form of public gambling, which has attained very large dimensions in the Colony and hope the authorities will succeed in cradicating it, of at least keeping it within narrow limits. Imprisonment, without the option of a fine, would seem to be the prore effectual course to adopt with the Tsz Fa people.

Deeming such behaviour incompatible with the due preservation of order which he was there specially to saleguard, the constable ran Otto in. In consideration of the defendant's position, we suppose, Captain Thomsett inflicted a heavier fine than usual in such cases, namely $5 or ten days imprisonment, and Mr. Huch was ordered by the Magistrate to be taken on board his ship where the fine was to be collected...

WE extract the following paragraph from the British Mail for July .- It is stated by Nature that the telegraph is making rapid way in China. The Shanghal-Tientsin line has been working. now for a few months, and a line is being constructed in the south between Canton and Hongkong a distance of about 100 miles. The first under dur observation. A company which will enough to be chosen as the habitation of an Irish of British Kowloon, situate opposite the town of Victoria. After some consideration it has been decided that a land-line is perserable to a subper cent, and on ordinary household furniture, This enraged their fellow Hibernians, and for marine cable, as it will be more economical, and the latter also would seriously interfere with the enormous junk traffic and fishing operations in the estuary of the Canton river. It is interesting to remark that this line is purely a private under- chow, Newchwang and back to Matsu for orders, taking of a company of Chinese merchants in If to Foochow 27 cents, and if to Amoy 25 cents Canton, who, doubtless, want to be on a level with their brethren in the north in rapidity of communication with the markets of the world. The line, as above stated, will for the present terminate on the confines of British territory. It seems hardly credible-but the fact is stated in the Hongkong journals—that opposition is made by the British authorities to the further construction of the line, and especially to the cable across the harbour necessary to connect Kowloon with. Hongkong, unless it is constructed by a British company. This illiberal demand seems also renew. And lastly, all claims are settled with rough weapons have to be used in dealing with | illogical and unfair, because one of the telegraphic cables between Hongkong and the outer world belongs to a foreign company, the Danish Great Northern Telegraph Company

ONLY the other day, says a contemporary, M. Ferdinand de Lesseps was telling Europe that upon the first speaking of the British guns at Alexandria the Sucz Canal would be closed. So it is, perhaps. The prophesy has been partially fulfilled so far, but in a very different way to what the great island-maker meant. A British Admiral prudently forbade British vessels entering the channel until the navigation was safe. Hereupon, De Lesseps the lesser, i.e. M. Victor -a gentleman about whose existence the world was somewhat forgetful-shall we say, incognisant?-dons the purple, and imperially holds England answerable for all losses the company may sustain. As canal cutters the De Lesseps may be very good; as commercial administrators they may be excellent; as company promoters they may be superlative, but as statesmen and international lawyers we fear they cut very poor figures.-If M. Ferdinand's political tirades were childish and absurd, this protest of M. Victor's puts them quite in the shade. Probably a more amusing or ridiculous document was never -right lung and will not be able to appear before -penned by any -well, shall we say -public man; it positively excites compassion. Even in France, where the name of De Lesseps is worthily held in reverence, it has not been allowed to pass without criticism-of no very flattering character either: here it only awakens laughter or commiseration. Incidentally it may be worth noting that not one of M. de Lesseps' great projects are original; all alike, without exception, having been proposed by earlier engineers.

THE Vienna journals contain details of the suicide of two young Frenchwomen under romantic circumstances. One was Mdlle. Marie Damain, a niece of Mdlles. Hortense and Elise .Damain, both well known on the Paris stage; the other, Molle. Aline Renneville, her friend, who had been travelling with her for the last eighteen months, and, being devotedly attached to her, also committed suicide not to survive her. Mdlle. Damain performed in small pieces at different private houses the two winters she spent in Vienna, and amongst others at the French Embassy. One of her many admirers was a young Count, an officer in the army, between whom and Midle. Damain relations of intimacy were contracted. Marriage was contemplated by the unfortunate girl, and the young Count ant'honography by her, but was not of age, and his family were strongly opposed to the match." The linison was broken off some months ago, and in October last Melle. Damain gave birth to a child. All efforts to effect a reconciliation with the Count proving fruitless, Mdlle. ultimately carried out. Having packed up their belongings they had taken in Vienna, she and her friend proceeded to Linz, within an hour of which town is situated the chateau of the Count's father. They put up at a small hotel in Linz, and in the evening proceeded to the chateau, of -Ottensheim. After lingering about the precincts. felt by people walking in the roads, and also by for a couple of hours they entered the park, and there, in the dead of night, on a bed of roses, the two unhappy women put an end to their existence. Their bodies were discovered by a servant the next morning. Subsequently a representative of the authorities and a clerk of the French Embassy made a judicial investigation at Mdlle. Damain's lodgings, where several letters' were found. written prior to her departure, explaining the cause of her terrible end, and that of her friend. Nothing, she says, would have prevented the latter from following her example, such was the attachment existing between them. This tragic event has made a deeply painful impression in Extensive robberies took place again in Kulangseu last night. It, really seems absurd that the authorities cannot organise a force to put a stop to these depredations.

We hear that the gang of thieves that has lately been so busily occupied in committing robberies from various European houses on Kulangseu, stole 11 sheep from Messis. Wilson, Nicholls & Co.'s slaughter house, entered four liouses occupied by Europeans, and stole sundry articles of wearing apparel, &c. the night before last. Last night it appears the same gang tried to enter the house occupied by Mr. C. Robinson, but were disturbed before they had effected their object. One of the gang was rather tall, dressed in white, and had his face blackened, probably with a view to prevent identification.

Yesterday afternoon a man was arrested and put in irons for stealing cargo, shortly afterwards ne stole the frons-mean wretch.

The Harbour master's house on Kulangseu. was visited by thieves about 1.30 this morning. when several articles of value were stolen. The latest news yesterday afternoon from Alexandria was that Arabi Pasha has 6,000 infantry, 36 guns, 400 cavalry, one rocket gun, and one Gatling battery. He also has a large body of irregulars. Order as very loosely kept, and he was obliged yesterday to shoot twenty Bedouins for robbing his soldiers of the plunder they had taken at Alexandria.

A Constantinople dispatch states that Count Corti is strongly opposed to the Anglo-French control system in Egypt. The representative of the Czar is by no means kindly disposed toward the law of Egyptian-liquidation-which-was-established under the auspices of Sir Rivers Wilson, and to which Russia and the United States were the last who somewhat reluciantly gave their consent to its enactment. Baron Hirscafeldt, the German representative, is known to favor unrestricted. military intervention by Turkey. This is again. quite an opposite idea to that of Marquis de Noalles, and is against the grain of the traditional policy of France.

ALEXANDRIA, July 17th. night, we heard a great noise on shore, and found the troops getting ready to resist an expected attack. The English sailors and marines were forming on the square by the flickering light of the burning houses. The English sent word to the representatives of the other nationalities, but all refused help except the Americans. The Russians, Greeks and Germans went aboard their vessels, but the Americans formed in line and said they would stop with the English. Then all went out, 100 strong, and proceeded in one direction towards the supposed enemy, and saw the English in Fort Napoleon throwing up rockets as a signal to the fleet. 'It was said that the Invincible was clearing for action. On going forward, it was found that-the Arabs had fired at some sailors, and that a false alarm had oc-

Five Bedouin chiefs came in and swore allegiance to the Khedive. Refugees from Cairo report that a holy war is being proclaimed, and that Europeans are being massacred in Tantah, Mansourah and Seagrzig

The Consul has been killed at the latter place. Arabi Pasha has cut the telegraph wire-which connected him with the Palace, and by which the Ministry constantly communicated with him. The Khedive has found an officer who is willing to undertake to carry the degree for Arabi Pasha' dismissal to his camp. "There is a report that eighty Europeans have been massacred at Martah, and anarchy prevails in the provinces. It is stated that orders have been received from home enjoining the British to content theinselves with maintaining order. A large number of Arabs are returning from the country.

Arabi Pasha has appointed Ali Jerme, a notorious Anglo-phobist, to the command of the

Yesterday morning the sailors drew up close to their Gatling guns, and the marines were ordered to get ready for an attack. Some scouts had sent word that Arabi Pasha was coming The English sailors communicated with the Americans, and asked them to get ready and be prepared. The seamen at the Palace of Justice and at the American Consulate were prepared, and, having got all their ammunition ready, waited for a signal. They waited until nine o'clock, when they heard the alarm was false. Plenty of mules have been landed for field batteries, which have also been landed, so that our force is ready to move at a moment's natice. A large number of people are returning ashore. Arabi's troops are said to be about fifteen miles from Port Said, and it is also reported that there are some troops near Sucz. LONDON, July 18th. The Times has the following

ALEXANDERIA, July 17th, 9-30 p.m. No words can be too strong to culogize the admirable manner in which all have united to repair the evil effects of the bombardment and render the city habitable. The English, American and Greek sailors, and marines vie with one another in doing good, solid work.

July 18th. Last night was quiet. The lines are now very strongly guarded. The fires are nearly all extinguished. The police arrangements are thoroughly effective. A correspondent has opened communication with the camp of Arabi Pasha, which his informant says, consists of a little over 6,000 men, who are intensely discontented and surrounded by starving women and children. -Recruits-of-the-lowest-classes-are_still_being_ enticed by Arabi, with promises of unlimited plunder, and his forces are held together by the assertion that the English will kill all returning to killed at Kaffir El Dwar.

LONDON, July 18th. The leading editorial article in the Morning Post says :- The behaviour of the American Admiral and his men at Alexandria is beyond all praise. Amid diplomatic protests, European conandria, is found to have personally engaged in | certs and conferences, and naval demonstrations of imbecility, it is refreshing to find a Commander who is able and willing, on his own account, to say what he thinks and do what he says. Sixty marines, physically speaking, could not do much, but there is a way of giving support which quadruples its value. The conduct of the Americans during the night of alarm, when it was thought that Arabi Pasha was coming, contrasts remarkably with that of the French and Italians.

A correspondent of the Times says :- The idea of the renewal of the close co-operation of France with England has now forced itself upon the French Government. The Cabinet Council has thing like a panic. Some German sailors, who concerning the dangerous proximity of a force of adopted a resolution to this effect. The resolutions protecting the German hospital, in which Redouins until reply to the identical note of the Powers inviting the Porte to send troops to Egypt; the decision of the Conference and the sanction of the Houses subject to these conditions. The two Governinents are now entirely agreed in regard to the term's upon which their forces will undertake to restore order in Egypt.

taksenaes, July 18th. All the French marines, retired from service who have not served fifty-one months have been ordered to return to the navy.

Malta, July 18th. The Galena has returned from Alexandria. The troop ship Malabar has arrived from LONDON, July 18th. Advices from Alexandria say that Arabi Pasha and Toulba Pasha have entirely lost prestige by their gross cowardice during the bombardment. The artillerymen were kept at their guns on the 11th instant by infantry posted under cover. The numerous executions at Alexandria excite some comment among the Liberal party, in press and in Parliament. PORTSMOUTH, July 18th. The troop ship Euphrates has been ordered to be in readiness within twelve hours. She will take 2,000 men to Egypt.

ALEXANDRIA, July 18th. Ramleh will not be occupied, but 500 marines. will occupy the difference centres of Alexandria, guarding the whole town, "The native police are organizing totaid the military. Detectives are searching for suspicious persons.
